Seminar On Wage-Price Plan Slated

Top Washington labor-management officials will meet in Fort Lauderdale to discuss the president's new wage-price guidelines, labor relations, and current legislation, at a seminar sponsored by the Law School on March 2 and 3.

John Gentry, the president's deputy advisor on inflation and counsel on Labor/Management Relations will give the keynote address on "Wage-Price Guidelines" at a luncheon Saturday, March 3, at the Sunrise Inn, 999 North Atlantic Boulevard.

Other noted speakers include John Truesdale, a member of the National Labor Relations Board; Robert Coulson, president of the American Arbitration Association; William Brown, past chairman of the president's Commission on Equal Employment Opportunities, and Abraham Raskin, associate director of the National News Council.

The seminar, which is expected to draw top corporate, labor, management, legal and academic leaders from all over the country, is actually a three-month state-of-the-art course in Labor-Management Relations crammed into an intensive two-day seminar, said Tracy Ferguson, adjunct professor of Law at Nova University.

'Arts of Spring' Will Celebrate Nova's 15th Year

The Arts of Spring, a university-wide/community multi-faceted arts festival marking the start of Nova's 15th anniversary year, will take place April 6 and 7 in and around the Mailman Building.

The art show, open to Nova people along with members of the Broward Art Guild, will be juried this year. At least two $500 prizes will be awarded, and several smaller prizes are being planned.

The art show will be open Friday evening, April 6, for Nova people, local dignitaries and the press. Saturday, April 7, other festivities will take place from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

There will be a performance by the Nova University Community Freedom Singers, exhibits of various Nova programs, a book sale, a plant sale, the Nova Wives food sale, an exhibit of "Television as an Art Form," and a performance by the Telemann Society.

All centers and programs are invited to participate. Contact Dr.

Richard Bell at Ext. 311 for more details.

Lectures On Health Set

A series of lectures by well known speakers on a variety of health topics is being given at Mailman Auditorium on the third Wednesday of each month at 1 p.m.

These lectures, sponsored by Nova's Health and Safety Committee, have been developed in response to the

Call If You See A Turtle

Calling all turtles. Or rather, all turtle watchers.

The sea turtle season starts May 1, but it's entirely possible that a maverick or two will be out there swimming around before the appointed day. And if so, Ocean Sciences wants to know about it.

Remember, though, that it's against the law to disturb a turtle while it is nesting. So if you see one of the critters, tiptoe quietly over to the nearest phone and call the Turtle Hot Line at 764-6149 (24 hours) and report its whereabouts. And then tiptoe away.

Medical Workshops Coming

April is Doctors' Month at Nova.

Each Wednesday, a workshop for doctors, dentists, and their staffs will be held at Mailman Auditorium, to acquaint people with some of the things they never learned at Medical School.

On April 4 and 11, for example, Virginia Miller will lead five separate workshops on "The Business of Running a Medical/Dental Office." Topics will cover filing systems, charting systems, bonding, management of personnel and all the nuts-and-bolts operations needed to run an office smoothly.

Sessions will be held April 4 from 9 a.m. until noon, 2 to 5 and 7 to 10 p.m.; April 11 from 9-12 and 2-5.

April 18's workshop will be devoted to Law and Medicine. Roland Graff will discuss such issues as when life begins... or ends.

On April 24, Dr. Doil Montgomery will help doctors understand the language of computers, in a lecture titled "Why Fortran Has Replaced German As The Language of Science."

For further information, call Dr. Georgia Reynolds at Ext. 262.

LETTERS

Dear Vicki Kellert:

It gives me great pleasure to take this opportunity to thank you for making Institute for Lifelong Awareness possible to me.

Having lived in Miami for many years and taken courses from other colleges and universities much closer to my home, I find Nova University the most satisfying, fulfilling and stimulating of all schools. The informal approach by your excellent instructors and variety of courses given have made my 45-minute drive on the Turnpike many evenings all very worthwhile.

I'm looking forward to many more years of personal enrichment through your school. The anticipation of each class gives me the greatest feeling of accomplishment once the day is over, and even more once the course is completed.

Again, many thanks for the awareness you have brought into my life.

Best wishes,
Janis Weiner

Sign For Walkathon

Walk — so that those who cannot may have a chance to do so... or at least lead as healthy and normal a life as possible.

The annual March of Dimes Walkathon takes place Saturday, March 3, beginning at 9 a.m. at the Broward County Courthouse, 201 SE Sixth Street, Fort Lauderdale. Marathon walkers, Sunday strollers, or reformed joggers are urged to call Denise in the Personnel Office to sign up for this important community event.

Health Planning and Development's Council's recommendation that "consumer health education services should be provided to all Broward County residents."

By 1980, each major business in Broward County with 200 or more employees should have an operational Consumer Health Education Program, the council says. (Nova is the first)...

By 1982, all businesses and industries with 25 or more employees in Broward County should have such programs.

The first lecture, on Feb. 21, was titled "To Be Or Not To Be — Fat Is Fun But Thin Is In," given by Marty Lerner.

The second, on March 21, will feature Dr. Doil Montgomery speaking on "Mind Over Matter — Biofeedback: What It Is and What It Isn't". Future lectures will be on hypertension, strokes, coronaries, eye safety, lung disease, diabetes, and stomach troubles.

The lectures are being arranged by Dr. Georgia Reynolds.

Alumni Plan Tax Seminar

Tax reform: everyone wants it, everyone hopes it will benefit his own particular field of endeavor, but not too many people know how they'll be able to cope with it, when and if it does come.

The first regional seminar sponsored by the National Alumni Association of Nova University, to be held in Fort Lauderdale on May 5, will explore the issue of tax reform in Florida in terms of its impact on education, health care, security protection, economic development, and the legal, judicial and penal systems.

Congressman Edward Stack will deliver the keynote address

Chairing the seminar will be Dr. Elizabeth Anderson of Miami Lakes.

The seminar, which is open to the public, will take place at the Hilton Hotel, 4060 Galt Ocean Mile, Fort Lauderdale, on Saturday, May 5,

Charter IRP Members Honored

CHARTER MEMBERSHIPS in the Institute for Retired Professionals were presented in recognition of the success of the program. Standing at rear are Director Debbi Robin and

Nearly 100 people attended a luncheon at Inverrary Country Club on Jan. 19 to honor the charter members of the Institute for Retired Professionals founded in 1977.

The luncheon was chaired by Debbi Robin, present director of the IRP. Among the speakers were Dr. Lloyd Elgart, founding director, and Max Salzman, associate director (who worked with Dr. Elgart in founding the IRP).

President Abraham Fischler praised the directors highly, and called the program "an inspiration" to the community.

Don't Forget

Quick — jot this down before you forget.

Scott B. Burns, a memory expert, will demonstrate how you too can develop a leak-proof memory, on Thursday, March 1, at 7 p.m. in the Mailman Auditorium.

Burns will be teaching a course called "Memory Development" at the Institute for Lifelong Awareness on Thursday evenings from 7-10 p.m. beginning March 8.

P.S. Don't forget to come.

Forty-six people received Certificates of charter membership. As an added cause for celebration, the IRP presented a gift to Max and Pearl Salzman on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary.

Retired Pros Get 'The Best'

It's the best of everything for members of the Institute for Retired Professionals.

In addition to participating in the best of programs and activities available to active, intellectually alive senior citizens, IRP members are now enjoying "The Best of Nova."

Every Wednesday morning, a representative of each center gives a talk on his or her specialty. Recently Dr. George Lawniczak, for example, discussed the need for intelligent management of the oceans, Dr. Doil Montgomery explained biofeedback; Dr. Richard Bell gave a talk on "You and the Boob Tube", Dr. David Britt spoke on homicide and race riots; and Gary Feinberg discussed victimology.

The "Best of Nova" will run at least through April 18, says IRP Director Debbi Robin.

Law School To Hold Summer Institute At Oxford

An Institute on International and Comparative Law will be given this summer at Merton College, Oxford, England, by Nova's Center for the Study of Law. A fully accredited annual summer school program is expected to grow from this initial offering, which is scheduled for July 30 to August 14.

"The value of such an Institute is immediately apparent when we consider the international legal ramifications of freedom, liability, banking, estate planning and corporate procedures that beset us in today's 'shrinking' world," said Roland Graff, director of Nova's Continuing Legal Education Programs.

"Comparative studies have always strengthened the understanding of our own legal system. Today it becomes increasingly important to understand thoroughly such comparisons in order to deal effectively with foreign lawyers in what is becoming a one-world market."

Topics to be covered include Civil Liberties, Product Liability, International Banking, Conflict of Laws, Criminal Procedure, Constitutional Laws, Estate Planning, Corporate Procedure, and Labor Law.

Classes will be held at Merton College, one of the oldest of the 34 colleges that make up Oxford University, which boasts the first set of collegiate statues dating from 1274. It is also the home of the first Renaissance library in England.

Registration (deadline April 20) is $100. Tuition and Fees are $585. For further information, call Graff at Ext. 363.

People Making News

Beverly Rowan, professor of Law, has been invited to present two papers at an International Symposium on Mental Retardation being held in India March 2-16.

She will speak on "The Protection of Retarded Subjects in Biomedical Research" in Bombay March 7, and on "Legal Aspects of Behavior Modification" in New Delhi March 12.

The symposium is sponsored by the New York Medical College in cooperation with Seth Medical College, Bombay, and the All-India Institute for Medical Science in New Delhi.

Bruce S. Rogow, interim co-dean of the Law School, was one of 51 people selected by the Federal Judicial Nominating Commission for consideration for a United States District Court judgeship for the Southern District of Florida.

The Commission will shortly be conducting interviews preparatory to sending its recommendations to Sen. Richard Stone and Lawton Chiles.

Dean Rogow was one of four people recommended to the senators last year for the position of United States Attorney for the Southern District.

Robert Bogorff, director of the Life Sciences library, has been appointed advisor to a new Pediatric Oncology Program recently established by three area hospitals — the American Hospital in Miami, the Pan American Hospital in Miami, and North Ridge Hospital in Fort Lauderdale.

Two noted cancer researchers Dr. William Russell and Dr. Joseph Sinkovics, both from the M.D. Anderson Tumor Institute of Houston, Tex., are heading the program.

Bogorff is the founder and president of the Florida Chapter of the Candlelighters, an organization for parents of children with cancer.

Dr. Fred Varricchio of Life Sciences has won a fellowship to study physical techniques for studying hormone receptors at the Max Planck Institute in Dortmund, Germany. The fellowship was awarded by the German government through the German Academic Exchange Service.

Dr. Varricchio plans to leave in the Fall for what he anticipates will be a three-month stay in Germany.

Aid Kits On All Floors

First aid boxes and oxygen sets have been distributed to floor representatives who have been instructed in their use.

CPR (Cardio Pulmonary Resuscitation) classes will be held Tuesday, March 6, from 9 a.m. to noon, and from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. For further information, call Dr. Georgia Reynolds at Ext. 262.

Roland Graff, director of Nova University's Continuing Legal Education program, has been appointed to the steering committee of the International Trade Task Force of the Fort Lauderdale area Chamber of Commerce.

The task force is looking into ways of increasing the volume of international trade, transport and tourism in Broward County.

Wine Course Is Scheduled

Attention, incipient sommeliers and connoisseurs: In only a few short weeks, you too can replace crass with class, and amaze your family and friends with your expertise about wines.

Ronald Weber, noted sommelier, is teaching a course called "The Pleasures of Wine: Its History and Appreciation" at the Institute of Lifelong Awareness on Wednesday evenings at 8, starting March 7.

If you're hesitating for any reason, note that the course includes wine testing. Call Ext. 212 for further information.
